CARTERTON OXFORDSHIRE

Carterton is a town set in rural West Oxfordshire and has grown from a village community based on market gardening. It has rapidly expanded in the last thirty years with the growth and development of nearby Royal Air Force, Brize Norton. The population stands at approximately sixteen thousand.

An Oxfordshire County Council
Survey indicated that Carterton stands out as unique in the County.
It has the youngest workforce and the highest male/female ratio of workers.

Carterton has a Community College providing secondary education, and five Primary Schools, including good Nursery provision. The Carterton Educational Trust has been established to serve this large community.

APPLYING FOR A GRANT

If you live or work in Carterton, attend school in Carterton, or were mostly educated in Carterton, you will be able to apply for a grant. Please read the 'Aims of the Trust' and the 'Examples of Need' as set out in this leaflet before you apply.

Please state clearly the reasons for your application, your involvement in Carterton, the costs involved, and the amount requested. Include any details that may help the Trustees to understand the importance of your application.

Applications can be made at any time, but please note that the Trustees meet quarterly – usually January, May, July and October- and there may be some delay before you receive a reply to your application.

Rest assured that all applications are looked at carefully and in full detail.
